

The Promise of Gene Therapy

Earlier this year, Lysogene's Founder and CEO, Karen Aiach, participated in the filming of a documentary series entitled "SuperHuman" that explores some of the amazing advances in science and technology today.

In her episode, "The Promise of Gene Therapy", released this week, Karen recounts the discovery of her daughter's condition, Sanfilippo Syndrome A, and how she took matters into her own hands after hearing from doctors that there was no cure. With no formal scientific background, Karen created Lysogene to find treatments for patients like her daughter. The investigational treatment Lysogene developed through its first clinical trial of four patients had a positive effect for Ornella and Karen is now racing against the clock to try to improve the lives of others suffering from Sanfilippo A.

You can find Karen's episode here.

